FRIDAY MORN'G, MARCH 12, 1852.

IFThe new Election Law which was made by the locolocos, at the last session of the General Assembly, is one of the most trifling and childleh pieces of legislation which a party was ever guil ty of. Many of its provisions are complicated and embarrassing in the extreme; and the duties of the Board of Canvassers, the Moderator's and Clerks in the several towns, are excessively onerous. The mode of voting, by se eret ballet, is slow and tedious, and the greatest care will he required un the part of the Moderator to see that people vote properly,-and even with this care very many voters will be liable to lose their votes. If there is any mark, how ever slight, upon the envelope by which it may be distinguished, although neither the voter or moderator may discover it at the time that it is deposited in the box, such ballet must be destroyed when the votes are counted. Again, if a person wetn the seal loo much or not enough, the gluten will not stick, although it may appear to, when deposited,-and all such votes must be destroyed when the counting takes place,and in neither case which we have named, will the tickets found in such envelopes be counted.

The General Assembly should have made an appropriation to purchase French scented soap that every voter might thoroughly cleanse his hands, at the side of the ballot box, -and they should also have provided white kid gloves for every voter so that every one would be sure not to soil the aristocratic envelope. This secret ballot law, with the virgin-pure envelope, is Democracy with a vengeance.

A critic says of him :- "Having mixed familiarly with all descriptions of society, from that of crowned heads and princes of the blood, down to strolling playershaving been behind the econes of the political, the literary, the theatrical, the artistic, the financial, and the trading world-having risen, unwided, from the humble position of subordinate clerk in the office of Louis Philippe's accountant, to that of the most popular of living rumancers in all, Europe-having found an immense fortune in his inketand, and equandered it like a genius (or a fool) having rioted in more than princely luxury, and been reduced to the sore strait of wendering where he could get credit for his dinner-having wandered far and wide, taken lite as it came-now dining with a king, anon sleeping with a brigand - one day killing lions in the Sahara, and the next, (according to his own account,) being devoured by a hear in the Pyrenecs-having edited a daily newspaper and managed a theatre, and failed in both-having built a magnificent chateau, and had it sold by auction -having commanded in the National Guard, and done harry hattles with hailby almost every potentate in Europe, so that the breast of his coat is more variegated with ribbons than the rainbow with color-having published more than any man living, and perhaps than any man dead-baving fought duels innumerable - and having been more quizzed, caricatured, and lampooned, and satirized, and abused, and slandered, and admired, and envied, than any human being now existing -Dumas must have an immensity to tell, and we fear that it will be mixed up with a vast deal of -- imagination."

THREE CHANGES FOR A WIPE. - When a man has three chances for a wife, it is a hard mischance if it should fail. The following is one of those cases which might have occurred down east, but we are rather doubtful if a similar event was ever known in any other part of the world. But let us give the experience of the gentleman, who had three chances, in his own language:

" I once courted a gal by the name of Deb Hawkins. I made it up to get married. Well, while we were going up to the Deacon's I slepped my foot take me for her lawful wedded husband? ' No, , says she, ' I shan't do no such thing? 'What on airth is the reason? eays I. ' Why,' says she, 'I've taken a misliken to you.' Well, it was all up with methon, but I gave her a etring of beads, a few kisses, some other notions, and made it all up with her ; so we went up to the Deacon's a second time. I was determined to come up to her this time, so when the Deacon asked me if I would take her for my lawful, wedded wife, says l, ' No, I shan't do no such thing.' Why,' says Deb, ' what on nirth is the matter ?'- Why says 1, " I have taken a mislikin' to you now. Well, there it was up again, but I gave her a new aprop, and a lew other little trinkets and we went up again to get married. We expected that we should be tied so tast that all nature couldn't separate us, and when we asked the Deacon if he wouldn't marry us, he said, ' No, I shant do no such thing.' ' Why, what on airth is the reason?' said we. The St. Mary's is now on the way to Japanhaving on board the Japanese eailors, and on reaching Japan will await the arrival of the squadron. The residue of the squadron will probably get under way in the course of April.

The objects of the expedition are well known. It is designed to effect a landing at Jeddo, the capital city of Japan at all hazards; and orders have been given to make various explorations on shore, and to leave no efforts untried to open commercial intercourse with that long scaled people. It is supposed the squadron will be absent eighteen months.

AMERICAN SKILL.—America, during the nineteenth century, has produced more remarkable discoveries than all the other nations of the world combined. In chemistry, the most celebrated and skilful chemists, the most wise and successful physicians, either in ancient or modern times, have not produced such an extraordinary remedy as Radway's Radby Relief, which stops the most server point in a few seconds and cures the cause quickly. Radway's Co are the first and only chemists in the universe that have succeeded in giving to the world, a remedy possessing such quick and marselloss virtues. In every instance, no matter how severe the pain may be, Rudway's Ready Relief will, in a few minutes, relieve the most poinful paraysm. It has cured Rhemantism, Neuralgia, Touthache, Diarrhea, Stiff Joints, Sick and Aerrous Headache, in from fifteen minutes to four hours. Let those who sufer try it.
